

Ryde Aquatic Center

A large swimming pool/multi-sports venue that was used for water polo during the Sydney 2000 Olympics.

The venue has a competition pool and grandstand area, a recreation pool with wave machine, a smaller learn to swim child's pool and a hydro therapy pool along with a multi sports hall for basketball, badminton, indoor football and gymnastics.

PA System provides paging from the reception center, background music zoned as required, local inputs from the competition pool and sports hall. The eq functions of the system processor play an important part maintaining intelligibility in what is a very bad acoustic space.

The system is controlled via the Smart PC software.
